Imprimere AG involved in "Megacity Project" in Africa

During a promising 3D Printing Summit Imprimere AG, represented by Simon Steinegger and Toni Niederberger, travelled to South Africa. A future-oriented cooperation has come about.

The event took place shortly before the arrival of Imprimere AG, organized by the partner of Imprimere AG "Merger Chen Solutions Pty (MCS)". Imprimere AG's 3D printing technology was firstly presented at this summit to a broad government representation and a select audience. The interest in the technology is very big. Thanks to the automated reinforcement insert this system can be used to create structural components and earthquake-resistant buildings.

Already on November 20, 2017, the representatives of Imprimere AG were there to showcase the 3D printing technology project applications and to participate in numerous discussions. With representatives of the government (<http://www.jda.org.za/>) Imprimere AG could talk in detail too.

The printing technology should be used as quickly as possible for the creation of simple buildings. After the establishment of the first buildings multi-storey buildings and towns will be realized.
